babeas corpus issued by Judge Depue, a little girl, the granddaughter of Mr. David E. Candeld, of this city, was brought before that magistrate last even-ing in order that it might be decided who was the ing in order that it might be decided who was the child's legal guardian. It seems the child's father was killed at the battle of Fredericksburg and the Orphans' Court granted letters of guardianship to the grandanter, Mr. Canfield. The mother of the child, however, took the little one and placed it in the charge of Sister Berzella, principal of St. Mary's Academy, Jersey City, where it has been for some time past. Mr. Canfield now desires to get bossession of the child. The mother alleges that the letters of guardianship were granted without the facts being properly stated relative to her position at the time, and she, in turn, desires to traverse the petition of the grandfather. The matter was postponed for a final hearing until the opening of the Supreme Court here. In the meantime Judge Depne ordered that the child be permitted to visit its grand-parents at stated periods.

THE FORT LEE MURDER-CONCLUSION OF THE TRIAL OF ELLEN HARTMAN.—The trial of the above named woman for the murder of Louisa Boumann was resumed by Judge Bedic, at Hackensack, yesterday. The evidence adduced was of a very un-certain character, and at four o'clock the prisoner's certain character, and at four o'clock the prisoner's couns: I summed up in defence. The Judge then charged the jury, and suggested that the testimony nad been somewhat insufficient, and it might, therefore, be well not to find the prisoner guilty either of murder or of manisaughter in the higher degrees. The jury then retired to consider their verdict, and before their return the Court adjourned the case this this morning. The case seems to have lost much of line totaless, and excitement which characterized it when Mrs. Bottomas was tilled at Fort Lee.

A TOTALY PRECAUTION .- The trustees of the town of Morrisania have authorized the immediate conpraction of ten public eisterns for the supply of vates in case of fire, at a cost of about $1,000 each? It is understood that the measure commands universal approbation on the part of the taxpbygra.

BOLD ATTEMPT AT HORSE STEALING .-- At about two o'clock yesterday morning officers Mooney and Leonard, of the Morrisania police, while on duty near Harlem bridge, noticed a manifriving toward them at a fearful speed, and suspecting that his mis sion was a dishonest one, they concluded to stop him. On the stranger's refusing to "pull up" the him. On the stranger's refusing to "pull up" the horse's head was quickly scoared by one of the officers, while the other grappied with the driver as he sprang from the vehicle. The last named, however, broke loose from the officer, and while running towards the southern Boulevard was ared as twice. He kept on, notwitestanding, until his pursuers were closing on him when the follow jointed into the Hariem river, and struck out for the opposite bank. Eight shots were fired at him, with what resurt is not known, cwing to the mist on the river. It subsequently transpired that the lorse and vehicle were owned by a party named Enckley, living in the city, who had temporarry left them in the street while entering a hotel at Melrose. Meeting of the Kings County Board of Supervisors visors. -The Kings county Board of Supervisors met yesterday afternoon, Sapervisor Osborn in the chair. The report of the committee on jurors was chair. The report of the committee on jurors was received and approved, in which it is set forth that the amount of money received for fines confirmed and collected by the Commissioners of Jurors for the year ending April, 1869, was $4,125; for military affidavits and certificates, forty-eight dollars; making a total of $4,173—being $767 more than that of the previous year. The money has been paid into the county treasury. The Committee on Salaries reported in favor of increasing the salary of Judah P. Yoochies, chief clerk of the Surrogate's Court, from $2,000 the present rate) to $3,000. A resolution to that effect was adopted almost unanimously by the Board. The centract entered into with William Boggs for repairing the Newtown Creek bridge in the sum of $925, was confirmed by the Board. Supervisor Whitehill thought it was rather singular that this structure, which cost the sum of $42,000 but a few months ago, should now require repairing. He hoped that if there was any means for the county to indemnify itself for this outrage it would take measures at once to do so. Supervisor Crook said that inasmuch as the commissioners appointed to oversee the work had approved of it he did not see that there was any redress. The fact of the matter was that the bridge was not durable enough for the stream which it spanned and the constant and ever-increasing tide of travel between Hunter's Point and Greenpoint. It was moved by Supervisor Whitehill that the contract for heating the Almshouse, Flatbush, be awarded to Felix Campbell for $20,655. This being the only bid received by the committee Supervisor Little moved that the matter be laid over until next meeting. The bill of Sheriff Patrick Campbell for three months, from April 1 to June 30, anounting to the sum of $14.77, was presented. Ten thousand dollars was ordered to be paid on account.

The Board then adjourned to meet again in two weeks. received and approved, in which it is set forth tha

THE MYSTERY OF THE CELLS.

Trial of Egan for the Murder of James Haggerty.

The trial of Dennis Egan, against whom an indictment for manslaughter was found by the Grand Jury, was commenced yesterday in the Kings county Court of Sessions, before Judge Troy. The prisoner, as alleged, thrust the late James Haggerty, while the latter was intoxicated, from his door steps at his liquor saloon, corner of Union and Smith streets, on the afternoon of April 12. Subsequently officer Hennessey, of the Forty-third precinct, took Haggerty into custody and proceeded with him to the Butte into custody and proceeded with him to the Butler street station house. On the way there the policeman applied the baton to the feet of the man to rouse him from the staper mio which he had failen. Two witnesses testified, however, that the officer "tapped liaggerty lightly on the top of the head." On reaching the cells of the Forty-third he occame noney for a white, but was soon altent again and was found dead, sitting in a corner of the "cage" near the from grating or door by the doorman at four o'clock on the morning following. An investigation was held before the Corner, extending over a period of three weeks and resulting in the detention of Egan and Hennessey, who were held for trial, and the censuring of several police officials for dereliction in not properly investigation the condition of liaggerty when brought into the station house by Hennessey.

The principal testimony taken yesterday before the Court was that of Dr. A. W. Shepard, who testified to having made a post mortem examination of the body of the deceased. He found the body in a well morrished condition. There was a wound on the right eye, a cut on the back part of the head, in front of each car their were brunes on the scalp, one on top of the head, another low down, near the back of the next, took the skull of and found a large clot of blood at the right part of the brain; this blood, which was extravasated, I believe to have been the cause of the decation of the deceased; street station house. On the way there the police-scalp, one on top of the head, another low down, near the back of the neck; took the skuli of and found a large cit of blood at the right part of the brain; this blood, which was extravasated, believe to have been the cause of the death of the deceased; the cuts were about two or three inches in diameter, and the wounds on the right and left temple were evidently caused by considerable violence, and a heavy man like Mr. Haggerty failing from steps like those of Mr. Egan's store would probably receive injuries which would result in concussion of the brain; i could not say which of the wounds found on the deceased produced the extravasation of blood; either of them might cause death.

Dr. Rissam was examined and substantially corroborated the testimony of Dr. Shepard.

Patrick likely being sworn testified—On the afternoon of the 12th of April I was at Egan's saloon; I saw Mr. Haggerty there; Haggerty made noise; farm told him to stor; iir. Egan took hold of Haggerty and they walked towards the side door; Egan told Haggerty he didn't wish to have any noise or have any one use such language in his house; I saw him after in the hall; he seemed to be insensible; Mr. Shater was rubbing his forchead with water; they then brought him into the back room; I left about the minutes after.

Catharino Sprawl testified as follows:—I live corner of Union and Smith when the affair pocurred; I first saw Mr. Haggerty isying on the steps on Smith street side; he was laying on his back; he isy there a few minutes; I can't say as to his condition; two men brought him his they placed him in a sitting posture in the hall; way; I saw Mr. Haggerty after

THE GAME OF LA CROSSE.

Indian Sports Yesterday at the Capitaline and Union Grounds.
At the Union Base Ball ground yesterday there was assembled a crowd of some 1,200 or 1,500 spec tators, intent on witnessing the exhibition of the In-dian La Crosse players. The game, as is pretty generally known, resembles the great irish game of hurling, or, as the gamins around New York call it, "shinney." The contestants yesterday were divided into sides of nine each, styled "Blues" and "Reds." "shinney." The contestants yesterday were divided into sides of nine each, styled "Blues" and "Reds." The uniform consists of a tight skullcap trimmed with feathers, tight fitting flannel shirt, knee breeches, tight leggings and moccasius. For the benefit of the audience the goals were placed at the extreme ends of the ground, thus making the distance over which the players were obliged to travel in their disputes more than ordinary. The goals consist of two smail flags, blue and red, and the game is one party to endeavor to drive the ball through between the flags of their opponents. The arrangement yesterday was "best three in five, for a sliver goblet." The first game was won by the "reds," and the second, third and fourth by the "blues." The contests, wranglings, chasting, dodging, cheering and whoopings which marked the game were both interesting an mitestag. Immediately after the game there was a mile race and a half-mile race, run by members of the club. For the inite race three started, but one gave out on the inite ond, another on the fifth, and Solomon Adams went in an easy winner in 5:18½. For the half-mile race four entered. One gave out on the second round, and after a lively british Non Rota Kisena was declared the victor, making the distance in 2m. 18s. Furses were made up by persons present and presented to the winners. After the foot races all the "Poor Lo's" joined in a war dance to the no small delight of the crowd present.

The Rudson Amateur Rowing Association Regatta Yest -Four Ruces-Large

Regatta Yest —Four Races—Large Crowds of Sp. or—The Rowing, the Boats and the Winners.

The Hudson Amsteur Rowing Association held its third annual regatta yesterday afternoon off the Elysian Fields, Hoboken. The regatta was in every respect a success, and decidedly one of the best ever held under the auspices of the association. The weather during the morning wore rather a threatening aspect, but at the time fixed for the starting of the many steamers chartered for the occasion by the various steamers chartered for the occasion by the various clubs the clouds which had filled the heavens during the morning moved off, and the sky assumed a more settled appearance. This fact, together with the general interest now taken in aquatic sports, espe-cially since the late international boat race, led a very large number of persons to the foot of Christo-pher street, all anxious to leap on board some one of pher street, an anxious to leap on board some one of the dozen steamers which had been engaged to carry persons to the scene of the afternoon's contests. About three o'clock the scene off the Eigstan Fields was a very gay and joyous one. The river was covered with craft of various descriptions; the steamers with their bright colored bunting, their crowded decas and their bands of music; small row-boats of every description, making the water appear almost alive; yaches of various sizes, two of which were schooners, cruising about with their white canvas reflected upon the water's surface, all helped to add to the general britiancy and busyness of the scene. The banks of the river on the Hoboken aide were also crowded with spectators. Upon the docks and beneath the pleasant shade of the fine old trees in the Eiysian Fields, those who were not fortunate enough to be able to join the crowds upon the steamers had gathered in thousands to see the afternoon's sport. Shortly after three o'clock the judges' boat drew up to the starting point and every eye was strained to watch the tooyercents of the judges, and every ear to hear the signal which should call out the contestants in the first race. The anxious spectators and not long to wait, and soon after the gun had been fredgibe boats entered for the first race made their appearance and the regatata commenced. Each race was three miles, over what is known as the Hudson Amateur Howing Association Course, C. e. from the Elysian Fields cock to a stakeboat stattoned just a over the oil docks, and return.

First Race.—Double scull shell boats; prize two gold badges. For this race turee entries had been made, all the contessants being members of the Guick Chib. Of the three boats entered only two came, no to the starting point—namely, the Swallow, rowed by O'Neal and Deely, and the Ginger, rowed by Matthews and Spear. The third boat, American Eagle, with "Chawles and Hedwin, you know," as rowers, did not put in an appearance. A very good start was made with O'Neal and Deely in the inside, wearing white. The former get away first, and very soon shot ahead of their opponents, gradually increasing their lead until at the Wechawken dock they were at least three lengths ahead of their opponents, gradually increasing their lead until at the Wechawken dock they were at least three lengths ahead of their opponents. Statthews and Spear worked hard, but even at this point it was evident that they were engaged in a stern chase, After turning the stateboot the "reds" took things somewhat easy, and came in victors by some eight or ten lengths, beating their opponents by Im, and Spear vice. Entres—Atsannta, "La Favorita;" color, red; W. H. Webster, stroke; U. Plepobrint, cox, swain. Mutmal, "Adam, siroke, Martin, Molardoc, Sielken, Earwicker, O'Neil, bow; J. P. Burrell, cox, swain. Withers, Ed. Smith, L. Waterbury, J. H. Limisey, A. S. Swan, bow. Munial, "Mutual;" color, pink and magenta; Perry Eving, stroke; Wygant, Shattuck. Swartz, Adams, C. Plepenbrink, bow. In this race the two boats got away well together, with the Atalantas inside and the Mutuals ontside, For some distance the boats were even, but by the time Weehawken dock was reached the Atalantas led nearly a length. The Mutuals pulled well, with a long, steady stroke, but their opponents were evidently 100 strong for them. Just before rounding the stakeboat the Atalantas pulled in shore and beat the Mutuals round by some four or five lengths. On the houseward course this position was not materially changed. The Mutuals, while pulling nard homeward had the misfortune to run into a snad pole, which delayed them somewhat; but the Atalantas, noticing their mishap, magnanimously laid upon their ours till their pursners had got clear of the stoppage. The Atalantas won by twenty-two seconds, annot the greatest excitement. Time of winners, 19m. 19s.

The following gentlemen acted as judges:—General Hatileid, Hon. Thomas E. Stewart, General Lloyd Asplinwall, Hon. Whitam Radford, Smith E. Lane and Colonet T. Bancy Myers. Referce, Major General Alexander Shafer. TimeReeper, George B. Springsleen. Committee of Arrangements, Benjamin F. Brady, William A. Martin, E. Natison, George W. Fortmeyer and William H. Spear.

The regulta, as before stated, was in every sense a successful one, and the sport, generally speaking, very excellent. The only accident which occurred during the afternoon happened just before the commencement of the racing, when a gentleman fell of the judge's boat into the river. He was, of course, promptly resenced, without any mjury phore serious than a good wetting.

The Walpole (N. H.) Trankby.—A correspondent formishes these interesting facts in relation to the murder of old Mrs. Sparinawk by her grandson at Walpole, N. H., on the 4th insunt. The boy is eleven years old and is extremely headstrong and viceous, and dishiked his grandmother because she endeavered to make him uned. His nother is dead and the old lady was keeping house for his father. On the morning before the murder the boy was disobadient and obstinate, so much so that his grandmother had to eat for assistance to compel him to obedience. When the murder was committed he was sitting in a room with his grandmother and a Mrs. Starkweather, and sequicity was the deed performed that Mrs. Starkweather could not tell who fired the shot, 'The boy in his subsequent confession admitted that he had been planning the nurder for a mouth. He took a small revolver from a drawer and afterwards placed it so hearly in its original position that no one would have thought it had been moved, but from the fact that one chamber was majety. The day after the murder a large number of people visited the house. The boy was the most unconcerned person present. He mingled with the visitors and talked about his grandmother with the utmost cooliness and kept whitting with a jack-knite as leafferently as possible. All day Sunday he denied having any knowledge of the affair, but Monday at the inquest, as has been stated, he confessed that he was the morderer, and said by way of excess that "he washed to get the old critter out of the way."

The Knoxville and Charleston Rauroad,—
We learn from President Bearden, of the Knoxville and Charleston Railroad, that contracts have been made with a firm of contractors of immense wealth and resources, and of the highest reputation for skill as railroad builders, whereby the uncompleted portions of the road from Maryville, Tonn., to Walhalia, S. C., are to be completed and placed in running order by the 1st of Angus, 1871, thus making an all-rail line in complete running order between Knoxville and Charleston. President Bearden received a letter yesterday from the Chief Engineer of the road,
who is now engaged in finishing necessary surveys,
stating that the pain of a tinnel through Shimp House Mountain, near Walhalia, will be abandoned, as a new route has been discovered by which the mountain can be fanked and the rails laid at a third of the cost of the projected tunnel.—Knoxelle Press and Herald, August 7.

General McQuade, the Inspector General, has declared that the consolidation of the militia, which has been provided for by law, will greatly depend upon the results of the fall inspections—that is to say, that if a regiment does not present as full ranks as it ought, to be considered a regiment at all, it as it ought, to be considered a regiment at all, it will be amalgamated with some other organization. In dealing with this sort of commands it is the intention of the General to pay no regard whatever to the muster rolls of the regiments, but to judge of the strength of each command by the number in rank at the inspection. General McQuade's view of the matter is the correct one. There are several regiments in the National Guard which boast of a very long muster roll, but are never seen with anything the full ranks. The militia does not increase in proslike full ranks. The militia does not increase in pros-perity by being composed of men in buckram. Shake up the dry bones, General.

The formation of an alumni of the West Point graduates has given rise to a great variety of opinion among the officers of the army concerning the pros-pects of any such association. General Custer, in a long letter in auswer to Lieutenant Colonel Parsons' invitation for him to become a member, makes one or two good points against the formation of the Point continues to exist, it, of itself, in the eyes of Foint continues to exist, it, or itself, in the eyes of all her sons, would be the noblest of all societies, and that "when the Military Academy is no more, then, and not until then, would the formation of such an association be necessary or advisable," is all wrong. What if the same argument were to be used in regard to Yake, or Harvard, or Frinceton, or the hundreds of other institutions, every one of which such an association be necessary or advisable," is all wrong. What if the same argument were to be used in regard to Yaie, or Harvard, or Frinceton, or the hundreds of other institutions, every one of which is quite equal, if not superior, to West Point in its various teachings, would not there be a laugh somewhere? West until there are "no more," indeed! But General Caster does make an excellent argument against the society when he says that owing to the fact that the civilians appointed to the army since the war are veterans, schooled in an academy of floer study than West Point, and that the old cry of graduates having to compete in an equal race for promotion with men who were unfitted or unquantied for their duties having been hushed in consequence, the formation of the alumnit would disturb the harmony which now exists between the two classes of officers. However, everything nowadays tends societywise, from the politicians' chowdet parties to the ragpickers' pienics; so the West Point alumni will have to fall in line after all.

A very remarkable finding by a United States court martial has just come to light. A lientenant was tried for having appropriated to his own use $200 out of $290 which has been banded to him from time to time by members of his regiment to deposit in a bank to their account. The accused pleaded "not guilty" to the specification and charge. The court found him "not guilty" on all the specifications, the finding as to the charge being "not guilty," and added:—"And the court do therefore acquit nim, being of the opinion, from the ovidence adduced, that sufficient opportunities were not given to the accused to refund the same served to a subject to the money he was charged with having appropriated to ans own use admit that he received the money. What on earth, theh, "time to griding" had do do with the case, or how a court could say that a man was not guilty of have given up is a stickler in which Dogberry will find food for fan and physic. But the cream of the thing is just here. The eral thing very good.

To-day Company B, Seventy-ninth regiment will go to Funk's Umon Park, the occasion being their first annual target excursion.

The Seventh company of the Seventa regiment will have a good time somewhere out of town on the 25th thistant. Delamater and Nast and Smith and all the other privates will be on hand.

PALMO AND MARRIZEK.

New York, Sept. 7, 1869. To the Editor of the Benald:-

of "poor little Palmo" recalls to mind an incident illustrative of the rendiness with which a man in misfortune is frequently forgotten by those who should honor him most. Some three or four years ago, when Max Maretzek was managing a season of italian opera at the Winter Garden, poor old Palmomild and humble to a degree painful to one who knew him as the builder of the first opera house in this city-approached the door and diffidently asked admission, which was contemptoresty refused him by an employe of Maretzek's, named Joel, who stood at the door.

The poor old man shrank took with a look of

by an employe of Maretzek's, named Joel, who stood at the door.

The poor old man shrank back, with a look of shame and grief on his face that I shall never forget. Denied a couriesy to which his former position as operate manager entitled him, and, too poor to purchase a ticket, the old man was about to leave the theatre, when the writer of this accoursed him and, saking him to wait, went in quest of Maretzek, thinking that the mere mention of Paimo's name to him would secure his immediate admission and the extension of some couriesy from the then impressario to the man whose fortune had been dissipated in paving the way for him and others.

But he also contemptuously refused to grant the request, and poor Paino, as he tursed sadly away, must have felt in its full force the bitterness of sall-fortune and realized that no crime is considered so great as fallure.
